

Without telling your friends anything about the story below, ask them to help you fill in the blanks with the words indicated below each blank—a name, a noun, a verb, etc. Chances are, when you read back the story with the blanks filled in, it will be hilarious!

Valentine's Day is the best. It gives everyone an excuse to eat _____ name of food and exchange _____.
type of gift

_____ was pretty excited for Valentine's Day. In fact, she'd already girl's name picked out the cards she was going to give to her best friends. They had a picture of a _____ on them. She knew her friends would love them!
noun

She was also going to surprise her friends with _____. What could type of food
be more delicious?

But she began to worry that if she only gave cards and treats to her friends, the rest of the kids in her class would feel left out. So she decided to bake enough _____ to share with her whole class. She was up all night same type of food baking, but it was worth it. She even made extra for her teacher and her family—delicious!

She decorated her _____ with _____, _____,
same type of food noun noun and _____. They looked amazing! She noun

 couldn't wait to share them with everyone.

On Valentine's Day morning, she surprised the whole class with her cards and _____.
same type of food
 Her teacher, Mrs. _____, let the whole last name
 class take a break to gobble up their goodies.

A few days later, the whole class surprised her with a treat of their own—a freshly baked
 _____. It was delicious too!
new type of food _____ knew that this was the real magic same girl's name of Valentine's Day—spreading some love and kindness and seeing it come back to you.

JOJO FACTS

- JoJo loves a good joke!
- From practical jokes to making prank calls, she and her friends have tried it all, and they're still laughing.

MESSAGE FROM JOJO

"I love, love, love being funny.
 It's my favorite thing!"

